PREPARING FOR DEMONSTRATION

Fruit Growers Will Be Shown How to Pack Their Product.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Charlottesville, Va., July 20.—Walter Whately, secretary of the Virginia State Horticultural Society, came down from Crozet to-day to make arrangements for the packing demonstration to be held on the Courthouse Square, September 2. When asked as to the prospects for the apple crop this year he replied that while the crop in the United States is so large as last year, Virginia will have an average crop of twice as much as last year. Conditions have improved greatly since the first of June, and in a great many orchards the trees are full. The general condition is very promising. The apples are smooth in appearance, the climate is clean and much care of orchards is evident.

The United States government report for June gives the apple crop in the United States as 52 per cent. in that month as compared with 51.4 per cent. at the same time last year. While the government report estimates the crop in Virginia at 70 per cent. in June as compared with 47 per cent. at the same time last year, Mr. Whately reports that the county with reliable sources, now places the Virginia estimate at 75 per cent. The condition of the crop in Albemarle county is far better than it was at this time last year, and it is estimated that the commercial orchards will produce an output of fully 70,000 barrels and from 2,500 bushels in bulk, netting a grand total of over $200,000.

Inasmuch as the crop in Albemarle is a great deal better than last year at this time, and the crop throughout the country about 8 per cent. shorter, fruit growers in the county will doubtless go slow in making contracts at this stage of the season for the purchase of the orchard products while the fruit is so plentiful. The prices offered are usually lower than those prevailing later in the season.

STORM DOES NOT DAMPER SPIRITS

Citizens of Northern Neck Now High in Hopes for a Railroad.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lancaster, Va., July 20.—A rainy day for July court is something hitherto unknown to the oldest inhabitants of Lancaster; but the record was broken Monday when dripping skies and muddy roads combined to keep at home many who would otherwise have come out, especially as it had been announced that a meeting of the citizens of Lancaster and Northumberland would be held here to confer with the representatives of certain capitalists and railroad interests concerning the building of a railroad down the Northern Neck of Virginia.

Judge Wright, who has been holding a special term of the Circuit Court for Richmond county for the trial of Dr. G. Milton Snyder, charged with embezzlement of the funds of the Tinsley Canning Company, arrived here early Monday morning, opened court, and transacted all the business requiring immediate attention, and returned to Richmond county in the evening to resume the trial of the Snyder case. The afternoon was therefore largely given up to the railroad meeting, which, in spite of bad weather, was well attended by representative citizens from all parts of this county, only a few, however, being present from Northumberland. Thomas J. Downing was elected chairman, and Robin O. Norris, Jr., secretary. The Hon. Wm. A. Jones, Congressman from this district, opened the proceedings with a strong and luminous statement of the proposed road, and the money to be paid in after the road has been completed. Mr. Jones was followed by Channing Moore Ward, a native of Richmond county, but now residing in Chicago, where he holds a responsible position in connection with the Great Railway system over which President Riley presides. Mr. Ward is known to represent capitalists who have ample means to build and equip the proposed road, and who stand ready to carry out work to speedy completion if the people of this section will comply with the propositions submitted by them.

Mr. Ward, who has had large experience in the building of railroads in the South and the West, said, in the course of his remarks, that he was satisfied that the proposed road would prove a paying investment, and that it would rapidly develop the counties through which it passed by attracting to them immigrants, enhancing the value of lands, introducing the most approved methods of agriculture, and putting the Northern Neck of Virginia in easy and rapid communication with the outside world.

W. S. Upshur, of Richmond, assistant general freight agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, followed Mr. Ward, and presented in a practical way the great benefits which would result from the construction of the proposed road. At the conclusion of the speeches the following committee was appointed to take steps to secure the right of way through the county of Lancaster and solicit subscriptions of money from persons living along the line of the proposed road: Walter E. Hathaway, B. H. B. Hubbard, Jr., Frank G. Newbill, Thomas J. Downing, Joseph Peirce, O. Norris, Jr., W. G. Beane, L. D. Stonecipher, J. H. Davenport, Dr. W. Lewis, Joseph B. Cralle, W. A. Eubank, W. L. Messick, W. A. Dameron, W. C. Chilton, R. L. Bass, Fred W. Claybrook, Dr. C. T. Peirce, Harvey S. Gresham, Henry Pittman and P. D. Northern. The committee was then adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock, and a subcommittee of conference and correspondence to co-operate with similar committees in the other counties through which the road is to run. Warner Ball, a member of the Lancaster board of supervisors, and a committee of twenty representative men, ten from each county, was appointed to carry out the objects mentioned above. After the close of the meeting here Messrs. Jones, Ward and Upshur left for Newmarket, the mouth of the Great Wicomico River, in Northumberland county, where they addressed a meeting of the people of that vicinity.

It is understood that if the road is built it will be on the line of the survey made more than twenty years ago with its terminus on the south side of the mouth of the Great Wicomico River, where an excellent harbor of deep water is to be found. Much enthusiasm was manifested at the meeting here, and people who had almost despaired of ever seeing a railroad built down the Northern Neck are now living in hopes of seeing their early dreams realized. Certain it is that the other section of Virginia stands in greater need of a railroad, or promises greater development after the road shall have been built. With the road built from Doswell, or some other point on the Chesapeake and Ohio, the valuable trade and traffic of this fertile region could then be diverted largely to Richmond, which under present conditions gets next to no business at all from the counties lying in the Northern Neck. If the road is built it will inaugurate a new era for this part of Virginia.

Trade Report.
Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity: "The trade conditions generally are irregular, with a tendency towards improvement in most lines. Dry goods are fairly demanded for bulk orders, and orders for future shipment are being received. Shoes continue active; the same may be said of trunks and bags. A fair demand for building and dimension lumber is reported. Building is active. Crop conditions have improved, following reasonable weather. Retail trade is quiet. Collections are irregular, in most cases slow."
